

THE REVIEW OF FAITH &
INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

Coming in June: “Religious Freedom and U.S. Foreign Policy”

The summer issue of The Review of Faith & International Affairs evaluates the record of U.S. international religious freedom policy since passage of the International Religious Freedom Act in 1998. The issue features key foreign policy leaders and noted experts on religious freedom worldwide, including Council for America’s First Freedom president Robert Seiple. Most of the essays were first presented as part of a conference series hosted by Georgetown University. The Council for America’s First Freedom is a co-sponsor of the series.

To receive the issue subscribe at www.cfia.org/subscribe. The full lineup of contributors is as follows:

- Asma Afsaruddin, University of Notre Dame
- Judd Birdsall, U.S. State Department
- Jose Casanova, Georgetown University
- Brian Grim, Pew Forum on Religion and Public Life
- Laura Bryant Hanford, a principal author of the International Religious Freedom Act of 1998
- Jeff Haynes, London Metropolitan University
- Allen Hertzke, University of Oklahoma
- William Inboden, Legatum Institute
- Keith Pavlischek, Ethics and Public Policy Center
- Liu Peng, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences
- Daniel Philpott, Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies
- Robert A. Seiple, Council for America’s First Freedom
- Nina Shea, Center for Religious Freedom, Hudson Institute
- Tad Stahnke, Human Rights First
- Victor Yelensky, Ukrainian National Academy of Sciences

The Review of Faith & International Affairs is published quarterly by the Council on Faith & International Affairs, a research and education arm of the Institute for Global Engagement. For more information contact CFIA at review@cfia.org.